

Community-Level Diversion Cohort

Dent County

Compass Health Network is working with behavioral health providers, public health, law enforcement, community-based organizations, and others to develop sustainable solutions for collaborative care through robust community engagement efforts.

Madison County

Madison County Health Department is collaborating across sectors with a number of groups including, the Community Counseling Center, Madison County Recovery Allies, New Life Recovery, Southeast Behavioral Health, Madison County Medical Center, and Madison County Sheriff's Office, as well as individuals who have experienced mental health crises firsthand to promote diversion efforts.

Polk County

The Polk County Health Center (PCHC) is leading efforts alongside committed community partners, including Bolivar Police Department, Ozarks Community Health Center, Citizens Memorial Hospital, Burrell Behavioral Health, Sling-N-Stones, Thrive Living Free Ministries, and other key groups, to improve behavioral health outcomes, address substance misuse crises, and reduce incarceration rates over a 24-month timeline.

Webster County

The Webster County CommUNITY Partnership, a coalition of social service, health, behavioral health, and youth/family-serving agencies, is working together to identify sustainable diversion approaches that will provide support services and decriminalize behavioral health crises.

Douglas County

Douglas County Health Department is building on previous work to expand support services to those facing mental health or substance use issues by identifying sustainable, feasible models to implement.