

Only one-in-ten say they are able to often meaningfully influence the decisions of their community's leaders.

During the last year, how often would you say you have been able to have a meaningful influence on decisions made by leaders in your community? Would you say very often, somewhat often, sometimes, rarely, or never?

